

Dear SASCRO colleagues,

It's time for a little celebration at the good start made by SA Journal of Oncology - Cheers!
Our aim is to have 12 peer-reviewed articles published per year. I am pleased to say that as we enter the second quarter of the year, we have 7 articles which have passed peer-review and are either published or in press and 1 which is undergoing revision.

These are:

- Chronic lymphocytic leukaemia with concomitant plasmablastic lymphoma
Jacqueline Goedhals, Leriska Haupt, Deborah Jafta
- Adherence to guidelines on prophylaxis of chemotherapy-induced nausea and vomiting in the National Cancer Institute, Sudan
Moawia M.A. Elhassan, Arwa A.S.A. Ali, Mohamed O.M. Elmustafa
- Advancing cancer control in the future through developing leaders.
Peter S. Craighead
- A descriptive qualitative study of childhood cancer challenges in South Africa: Thematic analysis of 68 photovoice contributions.
Lynn B. Edwards, Linda E. Greeff
- 68Ga-PSMA ligand PET/CT in biochemical failure after radical prostatectomy: A case report.
Irene A. Chidothe, David B. Anderson
- Oesophageal cancer in South Africa: The long timeline from onset of symptoms to definitive management.
Morganayagi Govender, Lucien Ferndale, Damian L. Clark
- Hypofractionated image guided radiotherapy for the treatment of acoustic neuromas: A dosimetrically acceptable alternative to stereotactic radiosurgery in a resource constrained environment?
Hester Burger, Hannelie Mac Gregor, Ross Balchin, Jeannette D. Parkes
- Undergoing revision – Long term outcome of osteosarcoma

I thank all those who have contributed to the Journal.

We welcome further articles – particularly original research and scholarly reviews of practice guidelines which are relevant to us in SA.

Kind Regards,

Raymond Abratt
